Museum Manners

Below are the Yellowstone Art Museum's museum manners that we love sharing with students and families who tour with us.

1. Please, do NOT touch. This includes the art, the walls, pedestals, and even keeping our hands to ourselves while walking around.
2. We love enthusiasm and willingness to share your thoughts, so please raise your hand for us to be able to see you're ready to share.
3. Your docent (guide) is the leader. Please respect, listen, and always follow your leader.
4. Everyday manners apply here, as well. Let's be safe and kind!

Being able to have great museum manners will make sure we all have a wonderful experience learning more about the art and throughout the museum. Thanks for following and sharing these manners with your group!
